

That's HellermannTyton!

The combination of standard and tailor-made products is crucial in the wind industry. The requirements from the wind turbine manufacturers are constantly growing, and therefore a large part of our products are tailor-made and designed to meet the individual requirements as precisely as possible.

Our customers benefit from our know-how and extensive experience in this market. Through the interaction between standard and customized products, we deliver the optimal solutions that, even under the most difficult conditions, lead to significant performance optimizations.

Our Global Key Account Manager helps you through the entire process from concept to implementation.
